Dear Professor,

We are submitting a manuscript entitled “Exploring First Year University Students’ Statistical Literacy: A Case on Describing and Visualizing Data” to the Journal on Mathematics Education. By this mail we confirm that this manuscript is not being published nor considered for publication in any other journal or proceeding.

Our research reports a qualitative study on the statistical literacy of first year university students, with focus on their ability to describe and visualize raw data consists of two groups. To achieve the goal of the research, we develop a set of open question. This study also reveal various types of students reasoning on visualizing data. .

Thank you for considering our manuscript.

Yours sincerely,
